THE NEW BRITISH CABINET.

Duke of Devonshire as Colonial Secretary.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, October 24.

The new Cabinet is officially announced to be composed of the following:—

Prime Minister.—Right Hon. Mr. Andrew Bonar Law.
Lord Chancellor.—Viscount Cave.
[Viscount Cave was Home Secretary from 1916 to 1918, after being Solicitor-General. He was appointed a Lord of Appeal, with a Viscountcy, in 1918.]

Chancellor of the Exchequer.—The Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin.
[Mr. Baldwin was President of the Board of Trade in the Lloyd George Cabinet, after being Financial Secretary to the Treasury. He was formerly a Director of the Great Western Railway and acted as private secretary to Mr. Bonar Law before joining the Ministry in 1917.]

Foreign Secretary.—Marquess Curzon.
[This is the same post that Lord Curzon held under Mr. Lloyd George, succeeding Mr. Balfour therein. He joined the late administration as Lord President of the Council in 1916 and became Government leader in the House of Lords. Was Viceroy of India from 1893 to 1905.]

Secretary of State for the Colonies.—The Duke of Devonshire.
[The Duke of Devonshire was for several years Governor-General of Canada, returning to England last year. He was formerly Treasurer of the Royal Household and in 1915 was made a Civil Lord of the Admiralty.]

Minister for War.—The Earl of Derby.
[Lord Derby was Minister of War from 1918 to 1920, prior to which he was War Minister and Postmaster-General. He gained great praise for initiating the Derby scheme and has been referred to as Britain's "best recruiter" in the war.]

First Lord of the Admiralty.—Lieut.-Col. Amery.
[Colonel Amery was Parliamentary and Financial Secretary to the Admiralty in the Lloyd George Government, after being Under-Secretary for the Colonies. He was formerly on the editorial staff of the Times.]

Secretary for India.—Viscount Peel.
[Lord Peel is the son of the late Speaker. He served as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and as Under-Secretary for War in the Lloyd George Cabinet.]

Lord President of the Council.—The Marquess of Salisbury.
[A son of the former Premier of that name. He succeeded Mr. Balfour as Lord Privy Seal in 1903 and later became President of the Board of Trade. He served in the war as a Brigadier-General.]

Home Secretary.—The Right Hon. W. C. Bridgeman.
[Was Secretary of Mines in the Lloyd George Cabinet and formerly assistant private secretary to Lord Knutsford at the Colonial Office and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach at the Treasury.]

President of the Board of Trade.—Sir Philip Lloyd-Greame.
[Was Director of the Department of Overseas Trade in the Lloyd George Cabinet, being formerly Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade.]

Minister of Health.—Col. Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen.
Was Minister of Agriculture in the Lloyd George Cabinet after being Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Agriculture.]

President of the Board of Agriculture.—Sir R. A. Sanders.
[Was Under-Secretary for War in the last administration, after being Junior Lord of the Treasury.]

Secretary for Scotland.—Viscount Novar.
[As Mr. R. C. Munro-Ferguson, was Governor-General of Australia, being made a Viscount in 1920.]

Attorney-General.—Mr. D. M. Hoag, K.C.
[Was called to the Bar in 1902 and made a K.C. in 1917. Has been Attorney-General to the Prince of Wales.]

President of the Board of Education.—Major the Hon. E. F. L. Wood.
[Was Under Secretary for the Colonies in the last Government. He is the eldest son of Viscount Halifax.]

THE FASCIST'S PART IN ITALY.

Statement of Policy.

Naples, October 24.

Thirty thousand armed Fascists assembled on the occasion of the Fascist congress. The Government, as a precaution, concentrated strong forces of troops and police. Signor Mussolini, the Fascist leader, addressing the Congress, including the Mayor and several Senators, Generals and a score of Deputies, declared that the party intended to participate in the Government, and would adopt energetic financial measures and postpone evacuation of the Dalmatian zone. He declared in favour of the maintenance of the monarchy, and said that the object of the movement was to safeguard free institutions, to honour the Army, and to enhance the greatness of Italy.

THE "TIMES" NEW OWNERS.

Best Traditions to be Maintained.

London, October 24.

Further particulars of the change in the control of the Times newspaper, which is owned by the Times Publishing Company, show that Mr. Walter has also acquired a substantial shareholding hitherto belonging to Sir John Ellerman. Major John Jacob Astor is associated with Mr. Walter in the acquisitions.

It is announced that Mr. Walter and Major Astor intend to maintain the highest traditions of the Times and to ensure its continuance as a national institution, conducted solely in the best interests of the nation and Empire.

CIVIL AVIATION.

International Conference in London.

London, October 24.

The International Civil Aviation Conference meets in London, to-morrow. Major-General Brancher represents the British Empire, France is represented by ten delegates, Japan by five, Belgium by three, Bolivia by two and Greece, Persia, Portugal, Serbia and Siam one each.

The object of the Conference is to attempt co-ordinated effort in standardisation, applicable especially to the airworthiness of machines, an international scheme of signalling and the establishment of an international meteorological code.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

Polling on November 11th.

(Reuter's Service.)

London, October 24.

The elections will be fought on a new register comprising nearly a million more voters than in 1918. There are over eight million women voters.

Most of the sitting members appear to be seeking re-election, but about a hundred Unionists intend to make way for younger men. The proclamation of the dissolution of Parliament on the 26th instant will mean that the polling day will be fixed for November 15th, which will displace the Radicals and Labourites, who are agitating for Saturday polling.

The Labour organs declare that Labour's political funds have not been touched by the industrial struggles. So far, 350 candidates have been selected.

A Labour Request.

London, October 24.

The Labour Party Executive has decided to communicate with Mr. Bonar Law declaring that a mid-week polling day will not give the workers a maximum opportunity of voting, and suggesting that a Saturday would be more convenient.

Liberals and Lloyd George.

London, October 24.

Lord Crewe, speaking at Wembley, declared it was impossible for Liberals to reunite with Mr. Lloyd George and his former colleagues merely because of a few Liberal phrases and some abuse of the Carlton Club.

Former Liberal Minister Supports Bonar Law.

London, October 24.

Mr. Reginald McKenna, in a speech at a Conservative meeting at the Cannon Street Hotel, said Mr. Bonar Law's Government offered the only prospect of stability and would give peace, retrenchment and capable and faithful administration. He did not believe there was any danger of Bolshevism in England, but he denounced the Labour policy of a capital levy as war on private industry. He said a capital levy was a wholly impracticable, wasteful and destructive method of raising money, while war on private enterprise in Russia ended in civil tyranny and almost national destitution.

Conservatives' Decision.

London, October 24.

The Conservative headquarters have decided not to bring out further candidates to oppose Coalition Liberals who are willing to support the new Government.

The "Wee Free" Programme.

The Independent Liberals have issued a manifesto severely criticising the late Government in all departments of statesmanship and pointing out that the Opposition frequently in some cases had waged successfully against the Government's policy. It outlines a ten-point programme, some points of which are common to all parties. It also gives unqualified support to Free Trade, with the repeal of protective measures; political and legal liability for women and men; land system reform, including taxation of land values; democratic reform of the licensing system; and proportional representation.

The Independent Liberals' manifesto is regarded by the political clubs as disposing of the question of a Liberal reunion for election purposes. The attack on the Lloyd George Government is regarded as decisive. Four Independent Liberals have just been adopted to attack Coalition Liberal seats.

New Foreign Policy Needed.

London, October 24.

Viscount Grey took as his main theme in a speech at Bradford the desirability of opening a new chapter in foreign policy. This was necessary to enable Britain to regain some of her moral influence lost abroad during the past three years as the outcome of the Coalition Government's conduct of affairs. He urged the League of Nations policy as the predominant note, also the development of the League's powers for the reduction of armaments. He referred to the recent tendency of the isolation of Britain on the Continent and said England and France must pull together. France had been let down in peace more than any other nation. Referring to internal politics, he opposed the renewal of the Coalition and said he preferred a straight Conservative reversion to the old Coalition Government. A sound foreign policy would lead to an improvement in trade.

THE "EGYPT" FINDING.

Merchant Service Associations' Protest.

London, October 24.

The Imperial Merchant Service Guild and the Mercantile Marine Service Association, in deference to the wish of the Captain of the Egypt, have not proceeded with their intention of appealing to High Court as regards the Egypt finding, but have made representations to the Board of Trade that the severity of the judgment of the Court is unprecedented and wholly unwarranted. It would mean that, in the event of loss of life in future arising from failure of the human element consequent upon panic, masters and officers of ships would be liable to be branded with what amounted to a charge of manslaughter.

The Board of Trade replied that the case was not one in which the powers of the Department under the Merchant Shipping Act 1894 should be exercised, and pointing out that appeal could be made to a higher Court.

U.S. PROHIBITION LAW.

Liquor on Board to be used for Crew Only.

New York, October 24.

The temporary stay of execution of the liquor order mentioned yesterday only applies to liquor to be used by the crews of foreign vessels. Companies must furnish a $25,000 bond that it will not be used for other purposes. Prohibition officials declare that they will now rigidly enforce Attorney-General Daugherty's ruling within the limits imposed by the temporary stay of execution.

A New Practice.

Hallifax, October 24.

The liner Silvia has initiated the practice of landing liquor stores here prior to proceeding to New York. She will pick them up on her return trip.

THE REPARATIONS COMMISSION.

To Visit Berlin Shortly.

Pretoria, October 24.

The Reparations Commission announces that after devoting three meetings to an informal consideration of the French and British proposals, it has unanimously decided to go to Berlin on the 29th inst. to discuss with Germany measures ensuring the balancing of her budget and the stabilisation of the mark.

THE MACAO AFFAIR.

Canton's Latest Demands.

It is reported that the Foreign Intercourse Commissioner, Mr. Law Yuk-lin, will make five demands on the Macao Government in connection with the recent shooting and killing of a number of Chinese. These are indicated to be—

- (1) That the military and police concerned should be punished.
- (2) Compensation be paid to those Chinese who were killed or wounded in the shooting.
- (3) Re-establishment of the Labour Guilds, without regard to past differences.
- (4) An Intercourse Commissioner should be appointed in Macao to protect the Chinese population.
- (5) That Chinese gunboats be permitted to anchor in the harbour without the necessity of having to give official notification to the Harbour Master.

U.S. ADMIRAL ARRIVES.

The Official Programme.

The United States flagship, the Admiral E. A. Anderson, Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet, arrived in port about eight o'clock this morning. The usual exchange of salutes was fired and the customary official calls were paid.

The Admiral landed at ten o'clock this morning. There was a Guard of Honour from the King's Regiment, and Admiral Anderson was met by Capt. Neville, who introduced him to Capt. Cross of the Guard. The American Commander-in-Chief then proceeded to Government House, where he was received by the Officer Administering the Government (Hon. Mr. Claud Severn). At eleven o'clock His Excellency returned the call aboard the Huron.

There is to be a dinner at Government House to-night. Admiral Anderson will be entertained to dinner by the Commodore on October 28th, and on October 30th there will be a reception aboard the Huron and the U.S. Commander-in-Chief and his officers will dine at the Hongkong Hotel, after which they will attend a dance at Government House. Admiral Anderson sails on November 2nd, on which day the Huron, Rizal Hart and General Alava will leave port.

THE FUKIEN FIGHTING.

Admiral Sah as Administrator.Peking, Oct. 24.—Rear Admiral Chen Chi has returned from Shanghai and reports that Admiral Chou Chow-jun is ready to take the First Squadron to Manila immediately if the necessary funds are provided.
The Fukien Members of Parliament held a meeting at the Navy Club last evening, discussing Fu-kien affairs. They showed preference for Admiral Sah, Chen-ping as ruler of that province, as opposed to Li Kuang-hung.It is stated to-day that the Fu-kien members intend to protest against the entry of Chang Ten-shang's Kiangsu troops as reinforcements, on the ground that these Yichun troops do more harm than good.—Reuter.A RAILWAY CON-

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph":
The S. P. C. A.Sir,—On several occasions of late, members of the S. P. C. A. have complained that they neither see nor hear of anything being done by the Society. May I be allowed through the columns of your paper, to give a resume of the work done up to date.There is a membership on the books of about 800, but the difficulty the Hon. Treasurer has to cope with is the want of address of the members, and, having no shelf, the collection of the subscriptions. He would be glad if those members who have not already paid would send in their subscriptions, together with their postal addresses to him.
Mr. J. H. Ramsay, C. of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank.An Inspector was appointed,
Mr. Fredk. Fisher, as from August 1st, who has done a considerable amount of work in the enlightenment of the Chinese and others who were found to be cruel to birds and animals. In the case of market and other dealers, whose work it is to transport crates of chickens, etc., he first notifies them as to the terms of the Ordinance. If the same party is found acting with cruelty a second time, a warning is issued, and a third time on the fourth, a prosecution takes place.The result of such prosecutions, a conviction in every case, proves that the work is being carried out in a satisfactory manner. Copies of the Ordinance, printed in English and Chinese, relating to the cruelty of cattle, pigs, and poultry, have been prepared, and will be placed on all the wharves where loading takes place. The Chinese translation was kindly done by Mr.
A. E. Woods, Assistant S.C.A.An anonymous donor has promised to build, equip, and endow as a memorial, a Dogs' Home, complete, including an up-to-date lethal chamber, caretaker's quarters, and a paddock for the dogs to exercise in. This will not only be a home for stray dogs, but also a home where persons leaving the Colony for a time may leave their dogs or cats on payment. The question of a site is under consideration, but it is hoped that the building of the Home will soon be started.The Committee wish to emphasize the fact that all members of the Society, in fact everyone, is able to call the attention of the police to any acts of cruelty they may witness though they have, of course, no power of arrest.The annual meeting will take place towards the end of next month, the date to be notified later through the advertising columns of the papers. It is hoped that a large number of the members will attend.—Yours, etc.,
B. L. Frost,
Hon. Secretary.

Hongkong, Oct. 24th., 1922.

LOCAL WEDDING.

Rogers-Stewart.

At St. John's Cathedral on Monday afternoon the wedding took place of Miss Marie Stewart, elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stewart, of Birmingham, and Mr. Reginald Arthur Rogers, son of Rev. and Mrs. A.
Houghton Rogers, of Worcester, England, Rev. H. Copley Mayle officiating.The bride, who was given away by Rev. G. M. Wales, of the English Presbyterian Mission of Amoy, wore a dress of white crepe-de-chine, tastefully trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses with white jonquils. She also wore a dainty white veil with bunches of orange blossom.Mr. N. Gough acted as best man.Following the ceremony a reception was held at the St.
Stephen's Girls' School hostel, kindly lent for the occasion. The newly married couple will spend their honeymoon in the Colony and at Amoy.

THE CHINA SQUADRON.

Return of H.M.S. "Curlew."

When the "Curlew" entered Plymouth Sound and passed up harbour on Sept. 7 to her buoy off the North Yard the spirits of the ship's company could hardly have been brighter. She was flying the paying-off pennant, and had just arrived from the China Station to pay off.
The whole commission has been a happy one, reports the "Naval and Military Record," and the conduct of the crew exemplary.
Leave was granted to as many men as could be spared soon after the vessel had reached her berth in the Hamoaze.The "Curlew" was commissioned at Rotherham on April 27, 1920,
by Capt. W. M. James, C.B., for service in the Fifth Light Squadron on the China Station, but as Capt. James had to succeed Capt.
Henderson in command of the flagship "Hawkins," Capt. Harold E. Sullivan D.S.O., assumed command of the "Curlew." The officers and men found the two and a half years spent on the Station exceedingly interesting, and the ship's company have excelled in firing and other service competitions and sport. It was not until practically the end of her period of service that the "Curlew" witnessed any fighting, and this was during the recent upheaval in North China. The "Curlew" was sent to Chenwangtao and Peitsaiho to protect British interests, but the Chinese shooting did not seem to favourably impress the crew.During the course of the commission many notable personages visited the ship, such as the Crown Prince of Japan and Mons.
Clemenceau. Nearly every port on the China coast was visited, and last year the "Curlew" cruised round Japan. She had a cheery send-off from British ships on the Station, and before the vessel left Wei-hai-wei for home the Commander-in-Chief (Vice-Admiral Sir Alexander L. Duff) went on board, and, addressing the ship's company, congratulated officers and men on their splendid record on the Station. After the "Curlew" reached Colombo her course was diverted to enable her to visit Seychelles. There she embarked Zaxbloni Pasha, the Egyptian Nationalist leader, whom she afterwards landed at Gibraltar. The visit to Seychelles afforded the only opportunity of the whole commission of "crossing the line," and about 360 were duly initiated at the Court of King Neptune.In 1920 the "Curlew" was top of the China Squadron in the Commander-in-Chief's firing, and last year she was narrowly beaten by the flagship for first place in the Commander-in-Chief's battle efficiency test, which was a most exhaustive trial of the gunnery, torpedo and engineering departments, and the communications of the ship. Another success was achieved by the signal and wireless telegraphy branches, which, both in 1920 and 1921, won the cup awarded for efficiency in their combined branches. The "Curlew" is to relieve the "Constance" on the North America and West Indies Station.—London and China

SERVICE NOTES.

Lieutenant E. I. Peyton has been appointed to the gunboat Hollyhock on the China Station, from Oct. 18 next. He was recently serving on the "Dryad" qualifying in navigation. Some ratings for distribution amongst the ships of the China Station will be shortly dispatched from England.The King's Own Regiment and the Middlesex Regiment—the two infantry regiments represented in the garrisons of the Far East—will be both affected by the new order relative to the display of battle honours in regimental colours.
These in future will be limited to twenty-four, of which not more than ten won in the Great War may be borne. The number of battle honours for the late war will be twenty-four in number.
Regimental committees will make the arrangements for the number of battle honours to be displayed on the colours. The entire number of honours, however, will be borne in the pages of the "Army List," together with a note showing the number of battalions which each regiment had on active service in the war of 1914-18.—London and China Express.EVERYBODY HAPPY—BUT

A KISS IN TIME SAVES NINE

She was painting busily away at her easel when in breezed a young man obviously distressed in a butler's apron.

Without further ado he flashed out a watch and spoke the following words:

"SEE THAT TURNER? IT SAYS
THREE O'CLOCK. I SENT IT
WELL BEFORE THAT HOUR HAND GETS AROUND TO SEVEN YOU OF YOUR OWN
FREE WILL ARE TO FAVOR
ME WITH A KISS!"

Was she surprised? Well, rather, but sort of interested at the same time, for he was a handsome looking chap—and she was romantically inclined.

POLITICAL PARTIES.

It is clear now that the Old Country is to be the scene of a General Election within a few days. It will be an event of unprecedented character in Home politics, because it will be marked by the appearance of the group system, long familiar in Continental politics, but a new feature in Britain. The war brought a change from the time-honoured contests between Conservatives and Liberals by necessitating a coalition. Parties practically disappeared. True, the last seventeen years have witnessed the growth of the Labour Party, but, remarkable as its progress has been since the days when its first member, Mr. John Burns, constituted "a party of one," Labour has not hitherto been a formidable rival when it came to the formation of a Ministry. The 1919 Election saw the separation of certain Liberals from the Coalition, but, numerically, the "Wee Frees" have been almost insignificant.

The position is now reversed. Instead of the Coalition, we find the bulk of the members of the Legislature splitting up, and, not into the old simple, clean-cut division between Conservative or Unionist, on the one hand, and Liberal, on the other, but into sundry sub-divisions which cannot at the moment be defined with precision. Thus, we have the ultra-Conservative group, as it must be regarded in these days, whose leader is to be Mr. Bonar Law. Then there are the dissident Unionists, as they may be called, the body headed by Mr. Chamberlain, who express gratitude to and admiration for Mr. Lloyd George, but are evidently disposed to co-operate with the Bonar Law party. Next, taking the members in the order of their political "complexion," come the body, a fairly large one, who remain entirely loyal to Mr. Lloyd George, as indicated by the action of the National Liberal Council in electing the ex-Premier as its President. This practically puts the "Wizard" back to the position of Liberal leader, the Centre Party scheme going by the board. Come then the independent Liberals, or "Wee Frees," who claim Mr. Asquith as the legitimate head of the Liberal Party. At present of modest proportions, this party is well-equipped financially, it appears, and, in the general overturn, may recapture a substantial number of seats, albeit there seems little prospect of such gains as would enable the party to undertake office. Finally, we have Labour, which, likewise, is not without its divisions, yet can show a fairly compact body, gaining in experience, and, with plenty of energy, ready to put in the field a much larger number of candidates than on any previous occasions. To speak now of the respective policies would demand too much space. What seems fairly obvious is the improbability of any of these sections being able to command a majority over the rest of the House, so it looks as if the new Government will, after all, partake of the nature of a coalition, whatever title it gives itself.

Constitutional Reform.

As will have been seen by a telegram from our Singapore correspondent yesterday, the Governor of the Straits Settlements took occasion during the Budget speech to announce an impending measure of constitutional reform. The probability is that during his recent visit to England, Sir Laurence conferred with the Imperial authorities on the question. We should not be surprised if, our own Governor participated in like discussions whilst at Home in regard to the Hongkong demands, and if no announcement is forthcoming before his return of the concessions to be made, we may at any rate expect to hear something definite shortly afterwards. The chief point of interest with regard to the Singapore Governor's statement is that there is no intention of abolishing the Official Majority. The presumption, therefore, is, as we have again and again suggested, that there will be no Unofficial Majority for Hongkong either. For we know of no reason why this Colony should be granted a more thoroughgoing measure of reform than our Southern neighbours. As the chief stock argument of the Hongkong Reformers is that popular opinion gets short shrift by reason of the Official predominance on the Council, it would seem, in view of Singapore's experience, that the principal demand contained in the local petition is likely to be met with a blank refusal. We should be sorry were it otherwise.

Minorities Given a Chance.

It seems probable, however, that some measure of reform may be granted us. That there is room for reform we have never denied, but the kind of reform we favour is of a more democratic type than that suggested by the C.R.A. folk. We are up against plural voting, which we should have in operation here were the C.R.A. programme adopted. So far as Singapore is concerned there does not appear to be any intention of increasing the number of European Unofficials—at least, there is no mention of such a step in our correspondent's cable. But the Chinese are to have their representation increased and, what is more, the Eurasian, Malay and British-Indian communities are to be given representatives. This suggests that the Home authorities favour reform giving minorities an opportunity to safeguard their particular interests, and in that sense there is much to commend in the proposals, especially since the Official Majority is to be preserved.

One Way of Doing It.

The Magistrate of Heungshan district, who is a nephew of the Civil Governor of Canton, has his own ideas as to the best way of developing the territory. He thinks the area is large enough to have its own telephone service, and has directed every village, according to size, to subscribe for a certain number of shares. Subscribers are stated to be already busy in the localities intended to be brought within the system. This plan of compelling the districts to subscribe has an arbitrary look, but the idea is so excellent that it is difficult not to sympathise with it.

Ho Siu-chuen, a concubine with two houses, Nos. 63 and 64 in the village of So Uk, Cheung Sha-wan district, has reported to the Samui Police the occurrence of an armed robbery. Six men, armed with revolvers, entered the premises yesterday whilst the family were having their evening meal and stole $642 worth of money and property.

The first of Mr. Temple Bevan's series of "Children's Musical Recitals" at the Helena May Institute will begin on Friday, Nov. 3rd at 5 p.m. Mr. Bevan's opening address will be followed by a Beethoven Recital by Mr. Harry Ore. The lecture and Recital will be open to children of Members, and their parents; and any Member of the Institute who is interested is cordially invited to attend.—Add.

A jeweller, of No. 48 Queen's Road West, reports that he was swindled to the extent of $500 as the result of a clever fraud practised by two men who came into the shop as customers. He was showing three pearls of this value when he had occasion to go into the backroom to obtain writing materials. On his return he found the men still there but noticed, on closely examining the pearls, that they were spurious ones. The idea occurred to him that the original drops had been substituted, and searched one of the men, who became indignant. Nothing was found on the man, however, but the suspicion still remains with the jeweller that these two men victimised him.

ROUND THE TOWN.

[By "Gadabout"]

Glad to see somebody has picked up the gauntlet thrown down by "Battling Key," Private Flynn, if I remember rightly, is a sturdy, determined, plucky little boxer, with plenty of doggedness and a hard punch. It should be a great fight if it comes off and most followers of the noble art would like to see Key get a fight here. The Straits champion is no fool at the game, as he showed the other night at the V.R.C. He strips well and showed us on Friday evening that he knows quite a bit about ringcraft and maybe he knows just a bit more than he showed us. He'll be a hard nut for any man to tackle, but, if Flynn and he do face one another, here's the best of luck to both of 'em, and may the better man win. But why this apparent lack of interest on the part of the Hongkong Boxing Association? Here's Key comes up from Singapore with an open challenge, but the Association don't appear to have been any too sympathetic towards him. It's up to them to get busy and fix up a fight or else tell him there's nothing doing and not keep him hanging around. There's some talk about the colour bar, but that's stuff and nonsense. We've outgrown all those little prejudices. Sport's sport. We play with them and meet them at a dozen other athletic pastimes. And no one can say they aren't jolly good sports at whatever they take up. Besides, Key has fought Service men in Singapore, and he was sparring with an Army man at the V.R.C. on Friday. What's the Hongkong Boxing Association doing about it? Come on; there's been a challenge and it's been accepted: what about the fight?

We were discussing the rumour from Home about our Governor and it ended in an argument as to what is H.E.'s real name. Is it Sir Edward or is it Sir Reginald? Some people talk of him as one and some the other. He's referred to in some papers as Sir Reginald Edward Stubbs and in others as Sir R. E. Stubbs. Of course, that's all very well, but if you're talking to him you can't say "Yes, Sir Reginald Edward" or "Yes, Sir R. E." He races under the name of Sir Edward Stubbs and seems to prefer his second name, but I've often heard him referred to as Sir Reginald. Which should it be? By the way, talking about Sir R. E. Stubbs (I'm taking no chances myself), he was one of the few Governors, if not the only one, to sign, when he took the oath of office, with a steel pen. Most of our prominent Government officials in the past signed with the old-fashioned quill and this antiquated writing implement is still used by lawyers in our Supreme Court to-day, although their Lordships favour the more modern steel pen. The Law seems to like the old ways best and it'll probably be many a long day before the legal fraternity follow the reporters' example and use a fountain pen. Mr. J. M. P. da Silva, when he was clerk to the Puisne Judge, started a little museum and, among other things collected all the quills and pens with which Governors and Officers Administering the Government took the oath of office.

It comes as a bit of good news to lovers of dumb animals to learn that someone, who desires to remain anonymous, has promised to build, equip and endow as a memorial a dogs' home. It is to include a lethal chamber, quarters for the caretaker and an exercise yard for the dogs. The idea is that besides being a home for strays it will also be a place where persons leaving the Colony for short periods will be able to leave their dogs or cats on payment. You don't hear much about the police going round shooting stray dogs these days, but if we have this new home—and if the guardians of the law want to start another campaign at any time perhaps it would be possible for them to work in conjunction with S.P.C.A. in some way or another. Instead of shooting the apparently ownerless canines it might be possible to collect 'em up and put them in the home. The idea might be difficult to work, but it would probably be worth trying. Another way in which the home might be useful—they might send in a list of their strays day by day to the newspapers in the Telegraph Companies with their unclaimed telegrams.

"HONGKONG, CHINA."

Swiss Postmaster's Mistake.

After 80 years' occupation of Hongkong as a British possession it is rather startling to be informed that it is only a Treaty Port and subject to the changes in postal matters brought about by the recent Washington Conference. That, at any rate, is the impression prevailing in certain quarters, witness the fact that the Postmaster-General of Hongkong has received advice from the Postmaster-General of Berne (Switzerland) stating that, in accordance with the Washington Conference agreement, mails to Hongkong from Switzerland will henceforth cease!

It is to be feared that the Postmaster-General in Berne thinks Hongkong is a part of China and has included this Colony in the list of Treaty Ports which are shortly to lose their Post Offices as a result of the decisions of the Washington Conference. The shutting down of these Post Offices is to take place on the 13th November. We learn that to avoid the blunder that would deprive Hongkong of mail connections with Switzerland, our Postmaster-General has telegraphed back to the Berne official pointing out the error.

Mistakes of this character are, we learn, fairly common. Mr. S. B. C. Ross told a Telegraph reporter yesterday how the practice of addressing envelopes "Hongkong, China" has given rise to frequent delays in the delivery of mail matter from Home. Many people think that Hongkong is a Chinese port and accordingly send letters at rates that are not applicable to Hongkong. Mr. Ross stated that a recent letter addressed to a resident in Cheungchau found its way to Shanghai, and wandered up the Yangtze to half a dozen provinces before it was returned to Shanghai. Then an employee at the Chinese Post Office looked up a directory and learned that Cheungchau was an island near Hongkong. Accordingly the letter was dispatched here and received by the addressee, a European lady, after a delay of several months.

THE CANTON LOAN.

What Officials Think.

With regard to the foreign loan of £2,000,000 contracted by the Canton Government, the Canton Times says the agent of the syndicate, Mr. G. L. Brander, is now on his way to London to arrange details. The same journal says the authorities deny that there has been any revival of the "Cassel Agreement" negotiations.

With regard to the loan, it is stated that the authorities argue that the proposed issue of two million pounds sterling 7½ per cent. bonds through London bankers is simply a substitute for the present unappreciated domestic loan of $17,500,000 in the form of government banknotes now being circulated on the market at a great discount, which are now accepted only at less than 65%; that the supervision required by the bondholder will not interfere with the administration of the wine and tobacco tax, as receipts from these sources will be greatly increased and never lessen, the present income being more than sufficient to cover the loan; and that the supervision simply operates over the expenditure for which the bonds are issued, thus preventing corruption and diverting of the money to other purposes. The Canton Government does not object to the "low" price of issue, $87.50 for $100 face value, the reason being that the Government is now losing heavily daily because of lack of reserve to redeem or support the present paper money on the market. The Provincial Bank of Kwangtung, by which the government notes are being issued, and the Canton Government Mint are losing some $900,000 a month because of lack of silver and the high cost of silver obtained through agencies on account. The Mint is now being operated with but very little, if any, profit to the public, as it is being run by private concerns, with certain considerations to the Canton Government. The Government is trying to conduct its own mint with improved plant to be purchased with proceeds from the loan at London. The output of 20 cent pieces amounts to about $300,000 daily, and plans are being made to double the capacity through larger and improved equipment.

FEMALE BANDIT CHIEF

Captured Near Pakhoi.

A Pakhoi correspondent, writing to us under date of October 21st, says:

Mrs. Lo Hon-cho was captured on the 18th. October and brought into Pakhoi on the 20th. I have been in Pakhoi a long time and I know a bit of the history of Lo and his wife. He was the son of a Chinese merchant in this part of the country. He was a slim-built little chap, with a sweet smiling face and very polite; he was not over 30 but looked younger. I knew him personally. He was very cunning, and they say he was fearless. He always took the lead, and suffered as a result, for a part of the right side of his face was missing; in one of his exploits a bullet struck just below the mouth and travelled across his face, coming out just below his ear. He went in for big things; nothing less than the wealthiest satisfied him; and when he got them into his clutches he held on for large sums. He has been known to exterminate a whole village, not even leaving a chicken alive, when he had found them plotting against him. He was by far the most noted chief in this part of the country.

When the trouble commenced with the Kwangsi party in Kwangtung, the Kwangtung party asked him to come out and help them. He brought his gang out and altogether gathered together about a thousand armed men, and was given the rank of "Tuog Ling" or regimental commander, and together with his wife, he went through the thick of the fighting in this part of the country. In the taking of Lung Chow in Kwangsi, he was killed. His bandit troops were then without a leader, and they demanded that Lo's wife be their leader. The Kwangtung Government in this part of the country gave her her husband's rank and made her commander, and everything went well until the split between Sun Yat-sen and Chan King-ming. Since then she has been driven from place to place, begging for support for her men, never offering resistance, except to enable her to escape. When General Wong Keung drove her about a few weeks ago in Pakhoi, she tried to surrender to him through different channels—once through the kindness of a friendly foreigner here. But her appeals were not entertained, and she was compelled to flee for her life on board a fleet of junk and went 30 miles to the east of Pakhoi.

Along this coast a robber chief named Tai Lau, and a large gang were plundering and kidnapping, and Mrs. Lo Hon-cho, besides having had any association with them. This is an old gang and the chief has never helped the Government; he has always been a robber. A few days ago, some of them were caught red-handed but none of her men were found amongst them. However, the blame was put on her shoulders. She appears to have landed peacefully with only a bodyguard on a lonely stretch of the shore 20 miles from Pakhoi, to avoid getting in touch with the other gang. The people on shore seem to have organized and attacked her, and she surrendered without offering any resistance and made terms with them to hand over the arms of her men for a certain sum and the freedom of herself and her guards, the arms to be redeemed by her when Sun Yat-sen came into power again. This was agreed to, but when her men laid down their arms they bound her and her men and brought them into Pakhoi. She was brought in, in a ricksha, firmly bound to the vehicle with ropes, and taken to the military headquarters, where a photographer was secured to take her picture, but she objected and covered up her face.

What is going to be done by one with her is unknown. She has many Chinese sympathizers here and there are some foreigners trying to help her. Her men have always been looked at with suspicion, but they have done no wrong in Pakhoi and they have always been very friendly and respectful to the foreign community; and this is placed to their credit.

An incident of which I know is worth noting. When Lo's men first came out, they were very untidy, and one day they came to Lo and told him they had decided to return to their old haunts and demanded him to go with them. He told them he would not go back, and said he had already repented for the evil he had done. Some of them became very angry, and in the height of their anger

THE NEW DANCES.

Tango Foxtrot This Season's Rage.

America is as keen as ever on dancing; they are just danced mad. Miss Aileen Woods, who returned from the States by the Shinyo Maru yesterday, told a Telegraph reporter this morning. Miss Woods has spent some months in America learning the new steps and styles in ball-room dancing and has taken lessons also in children's dancing and the physical culture side of the art, which she has decided to teach in Hongkong.

The latest dance is the Tango Foxtrot, Miss Woods told the pressman. The ordinary Foxtrot in America is danced very fast—much quicker than here—and the Tango Foxtrot is more or less a slower edition of the old Foxtrot, though perhaps a little more difficult to get into. The Tango Foxtrot has caught on in the States and Miss Woods is of the opinion that it will be a popular number in Hongkong this coming season.

The Foxtrot is now danced to much quicker time than formerly. The Waltz still retains its popularity, but this, too, is a little different from last season. It is something like the old-fashioned Waltz but not so fast and is more of a glide. The One-Step is dead, Miss Aileen Woods said. So is the Toddle, although the Camel Walk still remains.

America takes dancing much more seriously than Hongkong, the reporter gathered. The standard appears to be much higher. The American girl is not content merely to shuffle round; she wants to dance daintily and well. To obtain the necessary suppleness and grace enterprising gramophone record makers have got out sets of records sold at a moderate figure. On the cover of the records are diagrams showing the exercises to be performed. The record is put on and a voice then tells the pupil what to do. After the explanation, the music starts and the voice just counts—"one-two-three-four, up-down-up-down." It is delightfully simple and so much more interesting than the old way of going through exercise without the music. With the new idea the pupil cannot go wrong, and instead of drudgery the exercises become a pleasure. Miss Woods, who has brought the first set of these records to the Colony, put one on the gramophone, and the pressman was very much impressed.

This side of the art of dancing has never been gone into before in Hongkong, but Miss Woods hopes to introduce it. It is not merely for the professional dancer; anyone who hopes to become really accomplished in the terpsichorean art should take it up. Middle-aged women are going in for it with enthusiasm in the States, Miss Woods told the pressman. Miss Aileen Woods had a most enjoyable trip altogether. "Right from the start she got on well. When the liner on which she travelled arrived at San Francisco she was besieged with reporters, introduced to her by a kindly purser, and interviews appeared in many of the San Francisco newspapers.

Miss Woods attended the Californian Teachers' Convention, which was held during her visit and amongst the teachers from whom she took lessons were Miss Marian White and Miss Ethel McFarland, both of whom are well-known in terpsichorean circles in the States. Miss Woods also studied at the Theodore Kosloff School at Los Angeles.

they told him they would go without him. Then he made use of his cunning, and perhaps a little of his pluck too. He handed them some loaded rifles, placed himself against a wall and asked them to shoot him before they left. This was enough for them; they didn't go.

There is considerable agitation in the town against the proposed execution of Mrs. Lo Hon-cho. Sixteen more of the 39 robbers captured by the Chinese, gunboat and war junks were shot to-day. None of these men belong to Mrs. Lo Hon-cho. They were members of the gang of the robber chief Tai Lau.

MEI LAN-FANG.

Chinese Star Actor Opens His Season.

Last night, at the Taiping Theatre, Mei Lan-fang, the famous Chinese actor, began his season in Hongkong. It was clearly demonstrated that the company brought here by the noted Northern actor possesses talents far above the average. In their own fashion they entertained the vast audience present, and this is saying much when it is remembered that not many could have understood the dialect used by the artistes nor the nature of the story except as briefly set out in the big sheet of paper used as a programme.

The play commenced at about seven o'clock and occupied five solid hours. It was one of those interesting productions dealing with military exploits and the doings of fairies, etc. No attempt was made at producing scenic effects except in the act in which Mei appeared; the play depended for its success on the gorgeousness of the costumes and the acting of the artistes. The audience was expected to exercise its faith in a great many ways. In one case a piece of cloth painted over in a series of wide bordered squares was meant to represent the walls of a fortified city. Another similar device was provided to give the illusion of a bridge, passage over which appeared to be constantly contended for, witness the many struggles that took place at this point between the guardians and the invaders. Then at frequent intervals a stage attendant would fire a chemically-prepared paper and let off a flare to signify that "a kill" had been registered by the hero. We have for the moment forgotten the other noteworthy points in the story, but the audience was kept interested all the time. The acrobatic feats and the bewildering play of weapons—in some cases bordering on jugglery—were very clever, and though lack of a knowledge of mandarin might have been regretted by many, interest could always be found in the singing and the constantly changing kaleidoscope of colour provided by the gorgeous costumes of the artistes.

As the evening wore on and Mei Lan-fang was due to make his appearance a suppressed air of expectancy was perceptible. When the great actor made his first appearance there was a spontaneous outburst of clapping, which was repeated at frequent intervals as first expectations of his talents became realised. Mei was in the role of a lovely fairy, and for that part he had attired himself in a gorgeous robe of gold. A chain of pearls, reputed to be worth over $200,000, was around his neck, whilst his ears were adorned in the approved fashion with diamonds. His imitation of the female voice was carried through the brief time he appeared on the stage in a very clever manner and his singing was really a remarkable achievement. At the end of the play, a perfect shower of flower baskets heaped on the stage indicated the appreciation of the audience. It is estimated that the receipts of last night's performance exceeded $10,000.

For the next fortnight the company will make a regular appearance at the Taiping Theatre in a number of plays produced by Mei himself.

CANTON'S SOLDIERS.

New Disciplinary Measures.

A number of regulations intended to bring the troops under greater discipline have been issued by General Chan King-ming, one of which is that the men should not take upon themselves the duties of searchers for opium or gamblers. Many abuses have in the past been committed by the soldiery, and the measures instituted by General Chan for the control of the men will be welcomed. Instances, however, have been brought to notice in which offenders were masquerading in military uniform; there is, as a precaution, it has been decided by the military authorities that any soldier leaving barracks to go into the city shall wear a special identification badge. A breach of this order, it is added, will mean immediate arrest and an appropriate penalty.

BOBBED HAIR GOING.

Types of high combs now predominating. They're responsible for checking the bobbed hair craze and bringing back high coiffures.

BOBBED hair has had its day—so the fashion authorities say. A tour of the smart restaurants and roof-gardens substantiates this. Hairdressing is again becoming elaborate. Transformations and false braids conceal the locks passing through their growing out stage.

Despite its comfort, its convenience and the dispatch with which it can be dressed, bobbed hair is declared a failure—because it reduces all women to one type!

When a girl cuts her hair she robs herself of the one means she has for changing her appearance to meet her moods.

A change of coiffure transforms the ingenu into a vamp, the slayer into the leading lady.

And often a woman plays all these roles in rapid succession.

With bobbed hair one is bound to wear one type of hat, and to standardize her clothes to a certain extent. The flapper uniform is almost forced upon her.

High hairdressing is again in high favour. For daytime, of course, almost every woman does her hair close to her head that she may accommodate it to the hats now in vogue.

But after six the knot naturally leaves the nape of the neck in favour of the crown.

One reason, of course, for the popularity of the high hairdress is the prevalence of the high Spanish comb. Some of the combs are more than six inches high and stand out from the head like a spread fan.

The typical Spanish comb is of carved tortoise shell. These serve as the model for those of composition materials that look like tortoise shell, jet, amber or jade. Often they are jewelled instead of carved. Jewelled hair pins also are worn.

To wear the hair high in Spanish fashion you must have well-kept hair. It must be brushed until it shines. It may be marcelled or worn plain.

Women who prefer the low style of hairdressing like the wreath of leaves, the jewelled band, or the ribbon, worn low over the forehead.

The cap, of coarse gold mesh, is a smart new fad, and is particularly desirable for sports wear, as it enables one to keep the hair in perfect shape even during the most strenuous exercise.

OF INTEREST.

Tie dyed fabrics are much in demand for negligees and house frocks. They may be had in different materials, including crepes, radiums and satins.

A black satin sleeveless frock has a front and back panel of embroidery, in shades of green and rose, giving a certain moss-rose effect in colouring.

A NEW FAD.

The newest fad of all is to have one's initials embroidered on one's trimmest blouses.

THE FASHIONABLE EARRINGS.

Smart women are wearing such long drop earrings that some are of a length nearly to graze the shoulders. Very elaborately filigreed and carved are these earrings, too, and, pretty, neatly coiffured heads with exaggerated pendulous ornaments of enamel, crystal, diamonds, and black onyx, coral, and especially of cut steel, are to be seen in every restaurant and theatre.

The fair visitor wears generally a necklace to match, or, at any rate, accord with her very conspicuous earrings, whether they be of large carved or polished beads dangling from slender platinum chains, exquisitely cut coral medallions set in an elaborate filigree of cut steel, or a wonderful blending of coloured gems.

Here and there one sees grandmother's cameos suspended at length from the shell-like ears of her smart granddaughters, and old-fashioned onyx and ornate seed pearl earrings have made their reappearance from old jewel boxes.

One or two women who are chic enough to be able to affect extremes of fashion without appearing absurd, have been seen wearing one solitary earring, a large drop pink or black pearl, just touching the shoulder. This is a smart and novel mode which is likely to gain many imitators, but to give the right effect the single earring should be a superb jewel, or the suggestion conveyed is that the fellow earring has been inadvertently lost.

The woman who decides to have a pair of her own, should

ATTRACTIVE COMBS.

The Spanish comb, in its many varieties, seems destined to enjoy its popularity for many a long day. In its newest guise one meets it carried out in beautiful glowing enamels decorated with a design of golden stocks or red gold fishes that seem to be swimming in an opal sea. Combs of this sort are being sold in Paris for wear with elaborate tea gowns rather than evening frocks.

Combs of coloured or gaudy rimmed with a beist of raffia are also to be bought in Paris, where a famous dress designer is selling combs of black Spanish lace worked in the gayest coloured flowers to match the brilliant Spanish shawl evening frocks that are enjoying a new popularity for restaurant wear.

LITTLE RED HEELS.

Smart women, whose good taste urges them to prefer a simple and effective black toilette for most occasions, have unanimously decided this season to add the necessary touch of relieving colour to their heels, and so scarlet heels with black shoes are again the fashion, and a very pretty and dainty one it is for those with slim feet.

Coloured and jewelled heels are, indeed, very much in vogue just now, and the smart foot wear remember that the wearing of these pretty ornaments is apt to make her look several years older, from the dignity they lend to the face. It is a fashion, moreover, which is best suited to the tall, slim girl.

Another point to remember before deciding to wear earrings is the effect they will have upon your eyes. Diamonds which glint and sparkle will take away from the gleams in pale eyes and impart a dull, heavy look to the wearer. If the eyes are light blue do not wear blue earrings of a deeper shade, they will only make your eyes look paler in contrast.

A long thin face should not be framed by long earrings, which will only accentuate the length from forehead to chin. The same idea applies to a round face which needs dangling stones to take away from the apparent width.

As part and parcel of the vogue for Venetian modes, brocades have suddenly come to the light. These are brocades such as we have never known before. They are sometimes made with a velvet tracery on georgette or chiffon and sometimes metal threads are heavily employed. A novel effect is gained sometimes by a groundwork of dark silk with metallic threads, over which there is a known as cashmere—the yellows and brick reds and soft blues that are familiar to everyone from cashmere shawls.

stores are displaying a variety of fascinating detachable heels which can be affixed to any pair of shoes.

Artistic designs are enamelled on to vividly tinted backgrounds, and it is not difficult for the ingenious and accomplished girl to try her hand on a pair of wooden heels with lacquer, paint brush, or cunningly inlaid brilliants.

Much can be done, with the aid of enamel, on the heels of an ordinary pair of stain slippers. Gold or silver enamelled heels will turn inexpensive evening shoes into very ornamental foot wear.

PRETTY PURSES.

Novel purses are always appearing to tempt money from our bags, but quite the prettiest for evening use are made of shot gold and silver tissue, mounted on gift frames.

These may be made at home by purchasing tiny clasps and a scrap of tissue, lined with another scrap of silk to match, may be quickly stitched on to the mount. Finish off the inside, where the stitches show, with a tiny "shell" ruffling of the silk.

A large flat flower may have its petals covered with beads of the same hue, and, sewn one on either side of a silk circular purse, would make a charming gift to a friend. The centre of the flower and brick reds and soft blues that should be filled with many different coloured beads blended together.

JOTTINGS.

Beauty doctors say that the elbows may be beautified by rubbing them every night with warm cocoa butter. After the massage the elbows should be rinsed in cold water or rubbed with a piece of ice.

Very coarse square meshed laces are mounted on chiffon, usually of a bright colour, and used for separate blouses. They are usually worn over the outside of the skirt, Russian blouse fashion.

Brocaded chiffon velvet is to be very popular this winter because it adapts itself so admirably to the present styles. Frequently the patterns are outlined with beads for extra elaboration.

Fans in black lace over metal cloth which brings out the design are shown for autumn. They have a certain Spanish feeling which makes them harmonize with the high combs and lace and embroidered shawls.

We don't see as much black satin as in other seasons, but what we do see is much more distinctive. It is being combined with white georgette crepe and white lace with excellent effect.

Black embroidery is seen on some of the newest lingerie. It is particularly effective on apricot or blue. A nightgown of Nile green satin is given distinction by its trimmings of yellow satin roses.

SILHOUETTES VARIABLE.

There is plenty of variety to be had in the New Autumn fashion as you may observe in the gowns pictured above.

DO YOU WEAR GREEN?

Instead of being shunned and regarded as the most unlucky colour in the rainbow, green is becoming quite the fashionable shade for weddings. Several smart brides lately have walked up the aisle followed by a pretty retinue wearing the once ostracised colour in defiance of all superstition and the dictates of tradition.

Once upon a time folk believed that a bride who dared wear green at her wedding would be stolen away by the fairies before the ceremony could be concluded. Green was said to be the favourite colour of the "little people," who were provoked to wrath when anyone else dared to join it, and wreaked their vengeance by visiting such ill-advised persons with all the bad luck they could lay upon them.

As a matter of fact, the colour green is emblematic of rebirth and resurrection, proven each spring as the apparently dead brown twigs break into a new life of budding green.

It is a promise of hope, and should indeed, be regarded as one of the luckiest of all colours. Those who desire special success in any venture cannot do better than clothe themselves in verdant hues, and surround themselves with the hopeful atmosphere of the many lovely hints which range from the palest pastel of the evening sky to the deep russet of the woodlands.

Green is said to be specially fortunate for people born in May, July, September and December. Usually it is particularly becoming to these persons, and they feel additionally imbued with health and cheerfulness, knowing they are looking their best, when they put on a green frock or hat.

Green has always been associated with jealousy, but there is no authentic legend to support the theory.

Green is a very becoming colour for dark people, and it seems a pity so many banish it from the wardrobe because of foolish superstition.

TO CLEAN A WHITE FELT HAT.

Before wearing a white felt hat cover it with a paste made of powdered magnesia and water; brush this into the felt, leave until dry, and then remove it with a perfectly clean brush. This will prevent any dirt getting into the "pores" of the felt, and when the hat becomes soiled, a second application of the magnesia paste will remove all trace of dirt. If a white felt hat is to be put away for some time, wrap it in blue tissue paper. A white hat, which has become yellow-looking will be much improved if a little blue is mixed with the cleaning paste, but this must be a very slight amount, only just enough to take away the yellow-grey hue.

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE.

Raspberry Mousse.

A mousse is sweetened, flavoured, stiffly beaten cream, frozen by being packed for four hours in ice and salt, using two parts ice to one part salt. The texture of the mousse is porous. It is a richer dessert than plain ice cream.

The following is a seasonable recipe, and different flavours and fruits may be used in the proportions: 1 pint heavy cream, 1 cup sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon gelatine, 1 tablespoon cold water, 1 cup crushed raspberries, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Soak the gelatine in the cold water until water is absorbed.

Beat the cream until stiff, add the sugar, salt and raspberries. Then add gelatine which has been dissolved by placing over hot water, and vanilla.

Pack into a wet mold, being careful that the mold is entirely filled. Cover with a piece of oiled paper, place cover tightly on the mold. Pack in ice and salt for four hours.

OF INTEREST.

You can do much to improve the beauty of your eyes if you take care of the lashes and brows. Brush them each night with an eyebrow brush and, if they are thin, use a suggestion of vaseline or olive oil.

Salad sets are a popular gift for brides. They consist of a deep bowl, six plates, and a wooden-handled fork and spoon. Usually they are in solid colours. Green, blue, red or yellow are the most common.

BROCADES.

Brocaded velvets are to be very popular this winter.

SHIPPING NEWS.

PORT OF LONDON AUTHORITY.

The thirteenth annual report of the Port of London Authority discloses an increase to March 31, 1922, of 2,309,846 tons in foreign shipping and a decrease of 799,759 tons in the coastwise trades. The value of the imports and exports, excluding coastwise goods from London, including Queenborough, for the year ending Dec. 31 last of £86,356,786, compared with £1,005,375,386 in the previous year. During the year ending March the Port Authority received 2,331,332 tons of imported goods for warehousing or immediate delivery, a decrease of 641,671 tons. The export traffic handled on the dock quays amounted to 492,573 tons, compared with 726,337 tons in the previous year.

THE POPULAR MOTOR SHIP.

In some quarters, it is still thought that a ship equipped with oil-engines instead of steam plant is something of a novelty and that shipowners who order such vessels are embarking upon a new and untried experiment. In disproof of this belief, the Mohr Ship, in the current issue, points out that a new vessel which it describes is the 47th motor ship constructed by one firm alone, and that no fewer than 98 vessels have been built, equipped with engines of the type manufactured by this particular firm. These 98 ships have a total displacement of 1,204,799 tons, and the machinery installed amounts to 295,310 h.p. When it is realized that in Great Britain alone there are nearly twenty firms engaged on the manufacture of motor ship machinery, it will be agreed that very rapid progress is being made in the development of this new type of craft, which appears to have a remarkable future before it.

LABOUR HOURS ON SHIPS.

The twenty-three hours' ship-ping strike, entered into as a protest against the modification of the eight hour day, which terminated on the 17th, inst., began after the publication of two decrees, the first suspending the application of the eight-hour day in the mercantile marine, and explaining that the French Parliament passed the Eight Hour Day Bill under the belief that other countries would adopt a similar measure for their merchant services, notably Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries. One of the decrees stated that French shipping, despite legislative isolation, could have supported the additional costs due to the introduction of the eight hour day except for the "jump in freights." The second decree suspends the application of the eight-hour day to rail-road employees, except drivers, firemen, and guards. Extra pay will be given for extra hours of work.

NEW U.S. FREIGHT RATES

TO FAR EAST.

A schedule of new rates for freight shipments out of Atlantic ports to the Far East has been established by the newly-organized Atlantic Far Eastern freight conference. These rates, it is explained, take into consideration pending contracts made under conditions which have existed in the past, and effective January 1st to run until July a general advance was promulgated. The members of the conference also designated the Seaboard National Bank as the depository of the forfeits which each of the member lines will put up, and a considerable portion of the approximate sum of $300,000 has been deposited either in the form of cash or Government bonds. The conference members are going over the entire list of commodities, a task which, one of the members said, was almost equal to formulating a new national tariff bill.

Rate exchanges made public already by conference men included the following:-

Commodity.	Now.	Old Effective rate.	Jan. 1.
General cargo	15.00	18.00	18.50
Machinery	10.00	12.00	13.00

WORLD-WIDE SPORT

In consequence of the recent accident at a boxing match in Amsterdam, when a competitor was killed, the chief of police has submitted to the burgomaster a proposal for the prohibition of these matches in the city.

It is announced from Paris that Kilbane has accepted Cripps' challenge for the world's feather-weight championship, provided that satisfactory terms can be arranged. It is suggested that the match should take place somewhere in the State of Michigan not later than November 1.

Five lady members of St. Thomas Swimming Club, Arbroath, took part in a long-distance swim recently. The course was from the Ness to the harbour, a distance of about a mile and three-quarters. Three of the swimmers completed the course, the first to finish being Miss Belle Stirling, whose time was 43 mins. 15 secs. Miss Nellie Hood was second, and Miss Edith Paterson third.

EXCHANGE CONTRACT CASE.

Production of a Cable.

The action in Original Jurisdiction, before Mr. Justice Wood, in which the Bank of Canton, Ltd., is suing the British Chinese Trading Company, was continued this morning.

The action relates to exchange contracts made in writing on March 10th, and April 7th, 1920, by which, according to the plaintiffs, the defendants agreed to purchase, through the agency of a broker, Mr. P. A. Janssen, $4,000 (gold) and $25,000 (gold) and to sell $275,000 (gold). Defendants failed to take delivery of the $275,000, and the plaintiffs claimed $59,820.86 (Hongkong) damages and interest until payment or judgment at 8 per cent. per annum.

At yesterday's hearing, Chin Tin-cho, managing partner of the defendant firm, gave evidence and was closely cross-examined by Mr. F. C. Jenkin, who appears for the plaintiffs, regarding an action he commenced in San Francisco against a firm known as the Independent Trading Company for non-delivery of goods. Witness said he could not remember that he ever made any claim against the Independent Trading Company in connection with the liability of his firm to a Hongkong bank for exchange. He could not remember sending a cable to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in connection with the matter.

After further cross-examination, Mr. Jenkin called for the production of the cable and of four letters.

Mr. Alabaster objected, and Mr. Justice Wood said he would consider the matter.

When the Court opened this morning his Lordship said with reference to the matter which arose yesterday, when Mr. Jenkin asked for the production in Court of a certain cable which the witness (the defendant) admitted he had passed for dispatch as relating to the contract for the sale of rice to an American firm, with legal proceedings following, and also for the production of four letters, he had looked into the matter and could find no way of compelling defendants to produce the documents at this stage.

Mr. Alabaster said they were prepared to produce the cable, without admitting its relevancy. With regard to the other documents, they were not in their possession.

It transpired that the cable was of May 13th, 1920, and Mr. Jenkin pointed out that he asked for the cable of May 25th.

It appeared that defending Counsel knew of no cable of the 25th, May, and Mr. Jenkin asked if he could have the one of the 13th.

Mr. Alabaster replied that they had been asked for a certain document and then they were told that was not the one. They would have a copy of the cable of the 13th, made out.

Defendant then went back into the witness box and the cross-examination by Mr. Jenkin was continued.

The case is proceeding.

JAPANESE IN CALIFORNIA.

Superiority Tests.

Professor N. L. Darsin, Assistant Dean of the Southern Branch of the University of California, and Professor L. N. Toman of Stanford University, announcing the preliminary results of the nationwide survey of the intelligence of American-born Japanese children in the Los Angeles and San Francisco schools are mentally the equals of the average American pupils. In the smaller cities, however, they are below the standard.

Professor Darsin, speaking from the standpoint of mental ability only, said that the Japanese are more desirable immigrants than Southern Europeans.

The result of tests in Los Angeles and San Francisco, comprising American and Japanese pupils, show that the Japanese lead in spelling, department, perseverance and ability to learn quickly. The American lead slightly in mathematics, English and history. The test was carried out at the request of the Japanese Association, which furnished the necessary funds.

94,000 CHILDREN RESCUED.
Dr. Barnardo's Home has admitted their 94,000th child.

WEATHER REPORT.

Oct. 25d. 11th. 48m.—Pressure has decreased considerably over S.W. Japan and moderately over the Loochoos. It has increased considerably over N.E. Japan and slightly from Tokyo to the Bonins.

A depression has formed over the Eastern Sea.

The anticyclone has strengthened and moved to the east of Hokkaido.

Hongkong Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, 0.02 inch. Total since January 1st, 68.14 inches, against an average of 59.04 inches.

STEEPLEJACK'S FALL.

A steeplejack fell 90 ft. from Glasgow's tallest chimney stack into a tank of water 10 ft. deep. To this he owes his life. Protecting the top of the tank are iron bars 3 ft. apart. The steeplejack, George Armstrong, fell head downwards, and, missing the bars, dropped into the water. This broke his fall, and, when he was rescued from the tank, it was found that his injuries were comparatively slight.
